EXCELLENT OUTLOOK FOR SPRING BUSINESS

Despite holiday and weather interruptions the volume of business, says Dun's Review, is well maintained. In most sections of the country the movement of merchandise has resumed normal proportions, snow blockades being removed, but tardy deliveries still cause much complaint, especially in regard to grain. Retail stocks of winter goods were most satisfactorily depleted during the period of low temperature, and the new season will open under favorable auspices.

Wholesale and jobbing houses report a liberal spring demand, particularly in dry goods. While the interior there is a vigorous movement of agricultural implements and other farm supplies. A gratifying feature of many reports is the promptness of mercantile collections.

Textile mills continue well employed, with special pressure for prompt delivery of cotton goods.

Iron and steel producers are receiving much new business, contracts covering delivery still further into the future, many lines being sold up to the last quarter of the year.

Better weather and improved roads, says Bradstreet's, have developed a stronger tone and greater activity in distributive trade, increased deliveries of grain by farmers, and slightly relieved the congestion in transportation lines, though the latter situation is still far from perfect.

Cold weather and price concessions have helped to move remaining stocks of winter goods, rubber wear of all kinds has had a good sale. Southern reports are of a good retail trade doing, and of a good preparation for spring trade are being made by retailers.

With wholesalers and jobbers, deliveries on orders are the main occupation, but there is apparently little let-up in the demand for cotton goods for anything like spring or summer delivery.

If you are a boarder every touch of dyspepsia should make the classified ads more interesting to you.

Every waking hour of every day of the year someone is "house-hunting" in this city—and the beginning of the quest is the reading of the ads.

The "good customer" who "happened" to spend his money in the other store the other day had also "happened" to be impressed with the other man's ad.
